Reminder - Individual Article Review Assignment

Created by Christopher Garcia on Mar 14, 2025 8:41 AM

As another reminder from last week, this is an individual assignment originally reported in Week 1 that is due midnight, your time, this coming Sunday night at the end of Week 2 to the drop box.

From Week 1 "To-Do List":

For Week 2, find your own scholarly article relevant to the assigned research domain for this class. Make sure you support your observations and analyses with evidence directly from the article, For example, you may use a direct quote or a paraphrase to support your observation. Make sure to cite these in correct APA 7th Edition Publication format. Refer to the Article Review Rubric for your assessment criteria.

By now you have gone to the Regis online library and used these resources to select one peer-reviewed article that interests you and has some relevance to our domain The Internet of Things (IoT).

Remember, this article review is due at midnight this coming Sunday in your time zone and must be submitted to the drop box within the Assignments tab. Use the provided questions that we practiced in Week 1 as a basis for your review of the document.

As a graduate student research paper, we must follow the APA 7th Edition formatting and the appropriate levels of heading and the paper is in narrative format - do not just list the questions as we did in class as that will not be accepted and will be returned. Use the proper narrative format.

Also, don't forget to use the Article Review Rubric. It provides the essential Levels of Heading you should use for your paper. [these are Purpose, Prior Research, Significance, Key Points, Problems with the article/study, Future Research].

Please remember, the example to use is provided in the Research Toolbox. Any questions, please join me this week for further clarification during our weekly voluntary Zoom sessions. The sample article review paper that I provide in the Research Toolbox as a guide and template. If your submission fails to use the required level of headings, and does not follow the prescribed APA 7 format, it will be returned ungraded with my specific comments for a rewrite.
